

End-of-Life Planning Informational Meeting

April 6, 10 am-12 pm at the Belgrade Town Office

Or remotely by zoom <https://us02web.zoom.us/j/8241191305>

Have you thought about what will happen when you die? You may not want to think about it, but preparing now for the inevitable means you can relieve some of the stress your loved ones will feel while protecting your assets and legacy. It means you can take control of the dying process while you're still able. Those closest to you will be fraught with many difficult-to-navigate emotions. They'll of course be sad, perhaps confused, often angry, and it's not uncommon for different family members to have widely differing beliefs about what would be best, both at the end, and even after, you pass.

Please join your Senior Resource Committee in an informational meeting about end-of-life planning.

- A representative from LegalShield will be available to discuss their legal services.
- A representative from Wheeler Funeral Home will be available to discuss pre-pay funeral arrangements and what happens when someone dies in Maine.
- The Town's Sexton will talk about rules for the town cemeteries and how to secure a plot.
